MARCHING IN MEMORY

Bay & Pass NJROTC students
remember the Bataan Death March

Students from Bay High and Pass Christian High Schools' NJROTC programs walked down Highway 90 in Pass Christian to honor the lives lost during the Bataan Death March in 1942.

Several students from Bay High and Pass Christian High Schools' NJROTC program on Monday marched 14 miles to honor the lives lost during the Bataan Death March.

According to history.com, "after the April 9, 1942 U.S. surrender of the Bataan Peninsula on the main Philippine island of Luzon to the Japanese during World War II, the approximately 75,000 Filipino and American troops on Bataan were forced to make an arduous 65-mile march to prison camps. The marchers made the trek in intense heat and were subjected to harsh treatment by Japanese guards. Thousands perished in what became known as the Bataan Death March."

Maj. Chris Anderson with Bay High's JROTC program said the group participates in the march every year. Students began their march on the Bay St. Louis side of the Bay Bridge, walked to Menge Avenue in Pass Christian before returning to Bay St. Louis.

Anderson said JROTC students across the Gulf Coast and nation commemorate the event with marches.

"JROTC memorializes and honors those that died during the Bataan Death March," he said.

Bay High School JROTC student Avery Lyons described the walk as "inspiring" and a "personal challenge."

Libraries lead: Celebrate National Library Week in Hancock County

SEA COAST ECHO

The Hancock County Library System will join libraries nationwide in celebrating the dynamic changes that are happening in today's libraries. April 8-14 is National Library Week, a time to highlight the changing role of libraries, librarians and library workers, and how Libraries Lead, this year's theme. The theme highlights the many ways that people's lives are changed by interaction with public libraries.

"Whether it is children developing early literacy skills at story time, job seekers using public computers to get online and develop their skills, or people of all kinds gathering to learn about a well-loved folk art, the public library supports open access for all," said Jennifer Baxter, Hancock County Library System Executive Director.

"At the Hancock County Library System, we are leading by providing service to the community, which has always been the focus of the library," said Baxter. "Libraries level the playing field for people of any age who are seeking the information and access to technologies that will improve their quality of life."

The library will host several events during National Library Week.

- Come meet the new HCLS Executive Director, with coffee, orange juice and cookies at all five branches from 9 to 10 a.m. Days and times for this event are:
 - o Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library – Wednesday, April 11
 - o Kiln Public Library – Thursday, April 12
 - o Pearllington Public Library – Friday, April 13
- A Minecraft Boot Camp, open to children ages 8-17 (under 10, bring a parent), can come learn all about Minecraft as part of a Library Services Technology Act grant administered by the Mississippi Library Commission. The programs will be held at each branch. For dates and times, please call (228) 467-5282.
- Food for Fines: For every can of non-perishable food donated, $1 will be deducted from any fines a customer holds. Visit [cocklibraries.info/2017-coming-events to see a full program schedule.

Authors & Characters @ Your Library

Joe Lee is next author at library program Joe Lee, owner of Dogwood Press, is the next author at the Authors & Characters @ Your Library program on Tuesday, April 10 at 11:45 a.m. at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library. He will be discussing his newest book, 40 Days. The book is about photojournalist Duane Key, who is almost fifty when the first clue gets his attention: a text message refers to his upcoming milestone birthday as 40. Flattery will get you everywhere, he replies. Several days later, as he is being bombarded with the number 35 \(the price of a can of green beans, the morning temperature, a song on a radio countdown\), he mentions the numerical coincidences to an old friend but finds them more curious than troublesome. That soon changes as Duane, a devoted father but a flawed man, feels a strong need to ask forgiveness of the people he has](http://www.han-<div data-bbox=) hurt and even goes to a priest for guidance. Taking place in the seemingly serene Mississippi community of Oakdale, 40 Days is a story of redemption, forgiveness, and the ultimate leap of faith for a man who realizes he must do better. If there is time. Lee has a background in radio, television and journalism, and was a radio disc jockey before becoming a full-time writer. 40 Days is the sixth volume of his critically-acclaimed Oakdale series, and his eighth novel.

Lunch is available for $10, payable to The Library Foundation at the door. Reservations are required, and copies of the book will be available. For reservation: call 467-5282.

The government's business is your business.

And Mississippians count on their newspapers to keep apprised of public notice advertising.

Half of Mississippi adults recall reading or seeing public notice advertising in a local or state newspaper.

And almost half (46%) of adults who have seen public notice advertising prefer to receive them in a printed newspaper, much higher than any other source.

Most Mississippians (87%) say keeping the public informed through public notices and legal advertising is an important requirement for government agencies. And the preferred method of receiving these notices is in a printed newspaper along with their associated websites.

According to a 2013 Advertising and Media Use Survey*, legal ads in printed newspapers have a much higher credibility than other media.

Over 1.5 million Mississippians read their local newspaper. Whether in print, online or on the go, newspapers are the leading source of information for Mississippi.

The Old Town of my youth

The Old Town Merchants Association will host its monthly Seocnd Saturday Artwalk this Saturday.

These days, the Beach Boulevard and Main Street area of Bay St. Louis are commonly referred to as the Bay's "Old Town," but it wasn't always that way.

But when I was a youngster, most of the commerce happened back by the Depot.

What is now known as the "Depot District" used to be the hub of "Old Town" business in Bay St. Louis, and the area stretched down to the beach in front of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, St. Stanislaus College and St. Joseph's Academy, where hotels and vacation rentals were located.

The area right across from the historic Bay St. Louis Depot included several types of businesses, including grocery stores, Engman's Department Store, Lusich's Department Store, Fahey Drug Store, Hubbard's Hardware, several barrooms, the electric generation plant and what was then the most important business in Bay St. Louis – the ice house.

W.A. McDonald and Sons was also considered part of the area, because it had several buildings across from the Depot that handled all of their goods and freight for many years. W.A. McDonald also had a furniture store.

There was Meyer's Grocery, Pitalo's, Carter's, Teabeau's and Boudin's Grocery.

I worked for two years at Hubbard's Hardware, before it moved to Nicholson Avenue in Waveland, and there was also a jewelry store.

There were also two oil companies that supplied such goods as kerosene and gasoline to local stores and service stations throughout the area.

There was also a bottling plant next to the ice house, and I remember watching through the windows as the soda bottles would travel along the conveyor lines.

What is now the St. Stanislaus football field was used by several college teams as a final training ground for the Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans every year.

The Depot itself was probably the biggest enterprise in Bay St. Louis.

Mail was distributed across the nation by train and several mail clerks lived in the Bay area and traveled the rails by day, sorting the mail and distributing it at various other rail postal depots.

Certainly, though, there were several long-standing businesses located closer to Main and the

We must do more to help those who suffer from mental illness in our state

The United States Federal Courthouse in downtown Jackson is a gleaming testament to the power of our federal government. The walls are literally works of art. The doors are hand carved in elaborate styles. Magnificent hallways and sheets of glass scream the power of modern prosperity.

So it seemed symbolic as I left the courtroom and noticed a 30-yard trail of blood all the way to the elevator.

I had just finished listening to testimony of a 26-year-old African-American man who had been in prison for seven years. He is mentally ill. Schizophrenia, bipolar - the works. He is a cutter, meaning that he won't stop cutting himself. Several times he has come close to bleeding to death.

I was impressed by his vocabulary. At one point he used the word "profusely" to describe his bleeding. He seemed intelligent.

Ten percent of Americans will suffer serious mental illness at some point in our lives. Just like we all harbor the vulnerabilities of heart disease and cancer, we are all at risk of mental illness. It is in the nature of the wiring of our brains.

Like a booby trap waiting to explode, mental illness is triggered by environmental trauma. Some of us are blessed enough to avoid such trauma, but the hard nature of life means, inevitably, like the random mutations that lead to cancer, some will fall prey. Highly intelligent and creative people are especially vulnerable.

The young prisoner has been locked up in the East Mississippi Correctional Facility (EMCF) which is the subject of an on-going federal lawsuit for its barbaric conditions.

He was asked why he cut himself. "I can't really say," he testified. "I just get this overwhelming urge. After I do it, it's a relief. Like a burden has been taken off my shoulders."

Another time, the young man drank cleaning fluid off a cleaning cart. "That's stupid," the guard said and walked away. Somehow, he survived.

This prisoner is due to be released in a month, but there is little chance he will recover. There is a narrow window of opportunity to save someone affected by severe mental illness. They are paranoid. They are terrified. They are overwhelmed by anxiety.

Timely intervention can bring them back. A simple mouth swab genetic test can now identify the best medicines. Gentle and kind therapy in a peaceful, tranquil setting can stabilize their fear and slowly bring them back to reality, just like chemotherapy and angioplasty can save a person from cancer or heart disease.

In our ignorance, we still often blame mentally ill people for their condition. Because mental illness affects behavior, a mentally ill person lacking family support or financial resources will often find themselves arrested. Many of them find their way to EMCF, the Mississippi prison designated to house the mentally ill.

According to the law, these mentally ill prisoners are supposed to receive the intensive therapy and appropriate medications that can bring them back. But at EMCF, it rarely turns out that way.

Instead, they are thrown into a hellhole - a prison run by gangs, where they are beaten, raped, starved, gassed and stuffed in a dark solitary cell with roaches, rats and thin gruel.

If it had been the heart or kidney that had failed, these people would have Medicaid and could get decent medical interventions. But woe to a poor person whose brain becomes diseased in Mississippi.

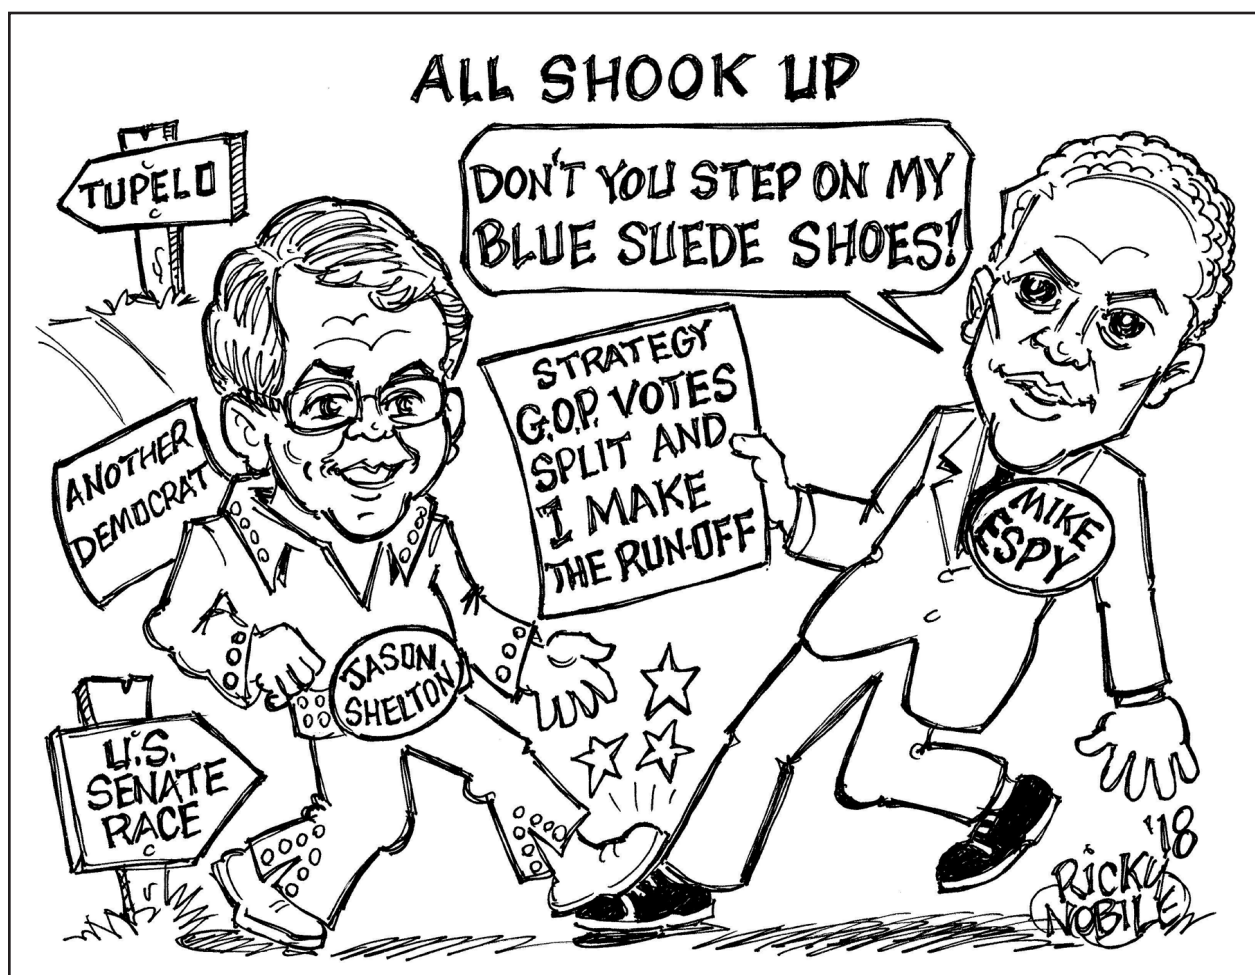

Centuries ago, these people were burned at the stake for being witches. Or holes were drilled in their heads to let the bad spirits escape, a procedure that usually led to death. Others were locked up in insane asylums not much better than EMCF.

The Nazis just shot the mentally ill. We don't do that in Mississippi. We torture them until they cut themselves. Then rescue them from impending death; punish them for the attempt; and then torture them some more.

It's not that the administrators and guards at EMCF are bad people. They probably represent a standard Bell curve of human behavior. Some are saints. Some are sinners. Most fall somewhere in-between.

They are trying to do an

National Park Week

National Park Week, held April 21 through 29 this year, is a week in April annually proclaimed for the celebration and recognition of our national parks. Celebrations will be marked with special events and activities including National Junior Ranger Day on April 21 and Earth Day on April 22.

Our national parks are living examples of the best this Nation has to offer—our magnificent natural landscapes and our varied yet interrelated heritage. Parks can provide outdoor opportunities, recreational experiences, and places of quiet retreat.

Of the 417 national parks, there are eight in Mississippi. Some include:

proved costly. This site is a perfect example of winning the battle, but losing the war.

Tupelo National Battlefield is where the battle of Tupelo was fought by more than 20,000 troops. Major General William Sherman successfully kept Major General Nathan Bedford Forrest away from the federal supply line in Tennessee in June of 1864.

The Vicksburg National Military Park/Cemetery commemorates the campaign, siege and defense of Vicksburg. Its surrender on July 4, 1863, gave the North control of the Mississippi River. The Vicksburg battlefield includes 1,330 monuments

11th annual Crawfish Cookoff a huge success for Hope Haven

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

The weather in Waveland cleared up just in time on Saturday for the 11th annual C&R Crawfish Cookoff, benefiting Hope Haven Children's Advocacy Center.

"We have the best community anywhere, they support this event year after year," C&R's owner Nadine Brown said. "To our community, volunteers, Hope Haven and our sponsors I am extremely grateful!"

The event was "a huge success," Hope Haven Executive Director Jay Trapani said. "Saturday morning was scary as the rain continued to fall, but around 8:30 a.m., the rain stopped, the 21 registered teams began to set up and boil, and when the gates opened at 10 a.m., the crawfish eaters began to arrive and continued to come into the event as late as 3:30 p.m."

The registered teams ended up cooking more than 6,000 pounds of crawfish, Trapani said, and "Special thanks to all of them. ... I'd like to thank Nadine Brown for allowing Hope Haven to participate in this year's event. Also, I'd like to thank our major sponsors, The Silver Slipper and Budweiser. Also, thanks to Calvary Chapel of BSL, who provided volunteers for the event, and the city of Waveland's aldermen for allowing Coleman Ave. to be blocked on a Saturday afternoon. Thanks also go out to Mayor Tommy Schafer of Diamondhead, Mayor Chipper McDermott of Pass Christian, Mayor Mike Favre of Bay St. Louis, and Mayor Mike Smith of Waveland who all participated as judges. Other judges were state Rep. David Baria, Hancock County Administrator Eddie Favre, Hancock Chamber Director Tish Williams, and local business owner Melvin "Cuz" Barnes."

The Rolling Boil team won first place, followed by Adonai Electric in second; Kiln Wine & Spirits in third; and Geaux Creole/Sunset Landing in fourth place. Harold and Lillian's won the award for Best Decorated Booth. Other awards included Crowd Favorite, which went to Sanico; and the People's Choice, which went to Tongue Candy. Tongue Candy also won the prize for Most Unique item, with an oyster/crawfish wrap, Trapani said.

Help

extremely difficult job with inadequate resources. There is a shortage of skilled labor to fill these positions. Fire the existing staff and there is no guarantee the next crew will be any better.

During the trial numerous exhibits were submitted showing the staffing of mandatory positions in the prison is often half of what it is required to be. In addition, the cell locks are easily defeated. So the gangs take over.

Given the staff shortage, over time, the prison has learned to use the gangs to help manage the prison. The gangs, which have an elaborate hierarchy, decide which prisoners have which beds. They keep order and discipline. They are rewarded with a franchise to sell contraband. For a price, you can get anything you want.

Some of the guards are in cahoots. Others are intimidated by the gang leaders. Others just want to keep their head down and get paid. No doubt, some are trying their best.

Although expedient, using gangs to help maintain prison order is fraught with potential problems.

First of all, gangs are illegal organizations that engage in illegal activities and use violence to maintain discipline. Once gangs get a toehold, they expand. If gangs are allowed to run our prisons, they may infiltrate law enforcement and numerous other areas of our economy. Just look at Mexico if you want to see the pitfalls of tolerating gang entrenchment.

How can the FBI allow this to happen? They should be nipping this in the bud.

Second, it is absolutely inhumane to allow gangs to run a prison for the mentally ill. The gangs have no understanding of the unique nature of mental illness, so they just beat and isolate these people until they cut themselves, hang themselves and light fires in their cells as a cry for help.

Putting a mentally ill person in these conditions is a death sentence – either actual death or a living hell. If psychosis isn't stabilized, the brain undergoes permanent physical changes that can be seen on an MRI.

I could recount horror story after horror story. It's all in the transcript.

Society owes our affluence to brilliant, creative individuals. These are our inventors, entrepreneurs and writers. But the same mental structures that allow creativity also create a vulnerability for mental illness. To throw these people into a hellhole like EMCF is not civilized.

I am under no illusion that a federal magic wand can eradicate this blight on humanity. But there are states that have instituted far better practices and procedures, usually by federal decree. Mississippi is far behind. We must do better.

It would be great if our state leaders cared, but they don't. I haven't seen one of them at the trial. Nobody cares about crazy people.

Jesus spoke about the prisoners in Matthew 25:35. His words are clear. What we do to these people, we do to him.

Fire scare at Boys and Girls Club in BSL

There was a brief fire scare at Boys & Girls Club - Hancock County unit at the Valena C. Jones Building on Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis on Monday afternoon after a window air conditioning unit malfunctioned and "put out a puff of smoke that set off the fire alarm," unit Director Marion Vincent said. "The kids were all wonderful and stayed calm and everything went the way it should." Three units from the Bay St. Louis Fire Department arrived quickly, examined the scene and determined there was no danger. The children were allowed back in the building within 20 minutes. "Everybody did a fantastic job," Vincent said.

On Main Street, there was Scharff's Family Food Store, which later moved to the corner of Main, then to Second Street at deMontluzin, before finally moving to Hwy. 90 at Dunbar.

Advocates support masonry program

SEA COAST ECHO

Career and technical education advocates from around the state are calling for immediate action to prevent the closure of one of Mississippi's top masonry programs.

Since 1973, Pearl River Community College's Brick, Block, and Stone Masonry Program has produced ready-to-work professionals for companies and contractors throughout the state. School officials plan to discontinue the curriculum in May for budgetary reasons.

"Closure of this program will create an immeasurable dent in our state's economy," said MCEF president Mike Barkett. "At a time when more than 80,000 craft professionals are needed to accommodate the demands of a growing construction industry, we should be building our workforce – not eliminating it."

Industry expert Thomas Ray Floyd, who manages the masonry department for the Jackson division of Philadelphia-based Yates Construction, agrees.

"At Yates Construction, we are continually in need of skilled craftsmen, especially masons," said Floyd. "Our subcontractors in the region tell me they are in the same situation. Masonry training programs like the one at PRCC have helped tremendously in preparing the next generation of masons. If we are to meet the needs of Mississippi's expanding economy, it is imperative to train more skilled craftsmen for the construction industry."

PRCC's Brick, Block, and Stone Masonry program prepares individuals for employment opportunities in the occupations of brick, block, and stone masonry, including bricklayers, refractory masons, and stonemasons. Content of the program includes federal, state, and local codes; and brick and stone laying, wall, partition, arch, chimney and fireplace construction, math, and blueprint reading.

In addition to contributing to the state's growing workforce, program participants are recognized nationally for their outstanding performance. Annual standouts in state and regional craft competitions, team members have advanced to 15 national competitions since 2013.

The success of the masonry program is due, in part, to the leadership of Porter Soley, a 1973 graduate of the program who worked in the masonry field until August 1996 when he became program instructor. Instrumental in establishing the curriculum, Soley expressed concern that the PRCC learning opportunity will be discontinued upon his retirement later this year. Barkett noted that MCEF would continue its efforts to build a stronger, better-prepared workforce while encouraging state leaders to support programs that provide ready-to-work craft professionals.

"Students today need every opportunity to find their place in life, and career and technical education can open up a world of career possibilities," said Barkett. "The outlook for the construction industry means many of these students can find their futures right here in Mississippi, and we need to take every step to ensure the workforce of tomorrow is prepared to meet the call."

Police took Stroud into custody, transporting him to the Harrison County Adult Detention Center, where he was held on a

"The cause for Stroud's actions is still under investigation," according to the statement. "It did not appear to investigators that Stroud was targeting any specific vehicle or business."

USDA-NRCS Accepting Applications for Gulf Coast Conservation Reserve Program

SEA COAST ECHO

Jackson, Miss. –The United States Department of Agriculture/Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) is soliciting landowners that are interested in habitat restoration through the Gulf Coast Conservation Reserve Program (GCCR).

GCCR is a Category 1 project on the RESTORE Act funded Priorities List and will be established on approximately 9,000 acres across the Southeast for the purpose of protecting and restoring critical wildlife habitat. In Mississippi, 2,000 acres of restoration will take place in George, Jackson, Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River, and Stone counties.

The primary objective of GCCRP is to improve habitat conditions through the development and implementation of conservation plans and practices. The practices will contribute to the restoration and protection of the natural resources and

To qualify for this program, an applicant must have legal possession of the land. NRCS will be contracting vendors with technical expertise to execute conservation projects.

Applications for all NRCS assistance programs are accepted on a continuous basis with specific sign-up deadlines being established to rank, contract and fund qualified tracts of land. NRCS reserves the right to setup a GCCRP application ranking deadline, if needed. Applicants can sign up for GCCRP at their local NRCS office.

Rocks 'walk' away from Tigers 8-6 to sweep series

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws walked their way to an 8-6 win over cross-town and Division 8-4A rival Bay High on Friday evening. The victory also gave the Rocks (7-9, 3-5) a season sweep in the series.

It was a game that saw a combined 26 batters either walked or hit by a pitch. The Rocks managed to get eight runs on just one hit in the game.

The deciding point in the game occurred when the Rocks sent 18 batters to the plate in the fifth and sixth innings and 12 reached by walk or hit by pitch. The Tigers ended up using six different pitchers and allowing six unearned runs in those six outs.

The Tigers (11-8, 3-4) jumped out to an early 1-0 lead in the first inning and added another run to the score in the third inning when Tyler Strong scored on a fielder's choice by Joe Bell. The run followed a collision at home plate between SSC catcher Braxton Bean and Tiger outfielder Cade Compretta. Bean held onto the ball at home plate for the tag but Compretta was ruled to have committed unnecessary contact with the catcher and was therefore ejected from the contest.

In the bottom of the fourth inning, SSC tied the game at 2-2. Trace Rhodes walked followed by a single from Colin Fredrickson. Bean loaded the bases with a walk before Daniel Wolf recorded a two-run fielder's choice.

The Tigers loaded the bases in the fifth inning with a lead off walk followed by a single from Strong and a bunt single from bell. The Rocks brought in a new pitcher, Payton Sandrock, with no outside and retired the side.

In the bottom of the fifth, the Rocks got a big inning gifted to them by the Tigers as they scored four runs on seven consecutive walks with two outs to go up 6-2.

In the top of the sixth, the Tigers knotted the score 6-6. Nathaniel Wilson and Addie Goscinski walked to start the inning. The Rocks got the next two out before they intentionally walked Strong to load the bases.

Bell drew a walk to drive in Wilson while Cole Brady followed that with an RBI to drive in Goscinski as he reached on an error by the Rocks' second baseman. Colby Oliver ended the Tiger scoring with a two-run error on the shortstop that tied the score.

However, in the bottom half of the frame, SSC added two more runs to go up 8-6.

The pitching woes continued for Bay High as they used four pitchers in the frame eventually going back to the starter Goscinski.

After a ground out to start the inning, Tristan

Bush and Taylor Lafontaine both reached base after being hit by a pitch.

Rhodes walked to load the bases before Fredrickson walked to bring home Bush. Bean was hit by a pitch to bring home Lafontaine to make the score 8-6. The Tigers retired the side after the damage was done.

Bean forced three fly outs from the Tigers to end the game and give the Rocks their 24th consecutive diamond win over the Tigers.

Bay High head coach Kevin Burdine commented, "I am very proud of Addie Goscinski and the way he gutted it out tonight on the mound especially when we went back to him late in the game. It showed a lot of character on his part. We swung the bat well early in the game. We had them beat but could not get runs in when we needed to. We held SSC to one hit tonight and anytime you do that you give yourself a chance."

Fredrickson got the single hit for SSC while Strong and Oliver both had two hits and Goscinski had one.

SSC head coach Mark Logan stated, "It is good to pick up a division win over your rival but down the road we have to play better. We played hard at times. Colin Fredrickson kept us in it and Payton Sandrock came in with a bases loaded situation and did not surrender a run.

Braxton Bean had a solid game at several positions for us."

The Hancock Hawks (11-9, 1-6) dropped their game with Biloxi on Friday 2-1.

Both teams scored a run in the sixth inning and Biloxi added their game winner in the bottom of the seventh.

Landon Jordan led Hancock with two hits while Michael Marie, Matthew Chighizola, Nick Cuevas, and Dalton Necaise all had a hit. Colton Cuevas drove in the Hawks lone run.

Pass Christian (6-12, 3-4) fell to Vancleave on Friday evening 11-1. The Bulldogs threw a no-hitter.

On Tuesday of last week, Hancock defeated Biloxi 6-2.

Nick Cuevas had two hits and four RBIs in the win while Jordan and Colton Cuevas also had two hits. Marie, Lane Ladner and Clayton Houchin all had one hit.

On the softball diamond, Pass Christian (5-10, 1-4) dropped their game with East Central 3-0 while Bay High (6-15-1, 1-4) fell to Gulfport 10-0. No game details were available.

The Hancock Lady Hawks (11-5, 3-3) defeated St. Martin 1-0 and lost to Picayune 3-2.

In the loss, Kaylan Ladner and Brailey Smith each had a hit and an RBI while Lane Stallings also had a hit.

In upcoming baseball action, the Bay High Tigers will host Vancleave on Friday and Poplarville on Saturday while Hancock travels to Gulfport on Friday and hosts PRC on Saturday. The Rocks travel to Moss Point on Friday and Hattiesburg on Saturday. SSC will host Ocean Springs on Monday, April 16th.

In upcoming action on the softball diamond, the Bay High Lady Tigers travel to Gulfport on Saturday and host Vancleave on Tuesday while Hancock travels to Harrison Central on Thursday and will host West Harrison on Saturday. The Crescents of OLA host

SELA's Ladner named a finalist for Hugh Durham National Coach of the Year Award

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

Current Southeastern Louisiana University and former St. Stanislaus College head coach Jay Ladner was named one of 21 finalists for the Hugh Durham National Coach of the Year Award.

Ladner commented, "It is very humbling and gratifying to know that other colleagues and critics recognize the success of your program. This is really a culmination of four years of hard work and there are so many people involved in the success of this program. This award singles out one person, the head coach. Perhaps the head coach gets too much credit when they win or lose, but it goes beyond that one person. It includes players, staff, athletic personnel, administration and so many more. This recognition is bestowed on me on behalf of so many people. I am very humbled by the recognition of the success of our program."

The Hugh Durham Award is presented annually to the top Division I mid-major head coach. It is voted on by a 30-member panel that includes five Division I current head coaches, five retired head coaches, 10 current athletic directors and/or conference administrators, five members of the national media and five staff members of collegeinsider.com.

The eligible coaches must be from the conferences that include American East, Atlantic Sun, Big Sky, Big South, Big West, Colonial, Horizon, Independents, Ivy, Metro Atlantic, Mid-American, Mid-Eastern, Missouri Valley, Northeast, Ohio Valley, Patriot, Southern, Southland, Southwestern, Summit, Sun Belt, West Coast and Western Athletic.

Ladner led SELA to its third Southland Conference regular season co-championship and its first ever top seed in the league tournament this year. He led the Lions to a 22-12 overall record and a 15-3 mark in conference play. The Lions advanced to their first tournament final since 2004-05 and advanced to the postseason for just the second time in program history in Division I. The Lions' 15 Southland wins, eight league road wins and 10 road wins overall were all program records along with their nine-game win streak from February 3rd to March 9th.

Ladner added, "We feel like we have a strong nucleus returning next year with four of five starters coming back including the Southland's preseason player of the year in Marlain Veal. If our recruiting fills out like we think it will, we can be right back in the mix for possible postseason aspirations."

Ladner joined other Hugh Durham Award finalists including Kevin Baggett (Rider), Bill Coen (Northeastern), Nathan Davis (Bucknell), Travis DeCuire (Montana), Steve Donahue (Penn), Matt Figger (Austin Peay), Earl Grant (Charleston), Chris Jan's (New Mexico State), Jay Joyner (NC A&T), Jim Les (UC-Davis), Bob Marlin (Louisiana), Bashir

Mason (Wagner), Matt McMahon (Murray State), Wes Miller (UNC-Greensboro), Porter Moser (Loyola-Chicago), Scott Nagy (Wright State), Nate Oats (Buffalo), Ryan Odom (Maryland-Baltimore County), T.J. Otzelberger (South Dakota State), and Joe Pasternack (UC-Santa Barbara).

Ryan Odom of Maryland-Baltimore County was the recipient of the award after leading the Retrievers to the greatest upset in NCAA tournament history when #16-seed UMBC upset overall #1-seed Virginia 74-54 becoming the first 16-seed to ever beat a #1-seed. The Retrievers also won the American East tournament title to advance to the NCAA tournament. The award was presented at the Final Four in San Antonio.

The Hugh Durham Award was formerly called the Collegeinsider.com Mid-Major Coach of the Year award from 2005-09. It is presented in honor of Hugh Durham who coached at Florida State, Georgia and Jacksonville. Durham is the only person to be the all-time winningest coach for three separate NCAA basketball programs. Durham chairs the voting committee.

SECOND SATURDAY

OLD TOWN IS SERIOUS ABOUT 2ND SATURDAY

BY DENISE K. JACOBS

The Old Town Merchants Association (OTMA) and its members invite you to experience the Second Saturday Art Walk this Saturday, April 14. Also known as Second Saturday, the event has become a regional favorite and regularly draws visitors from New Orleans to Biloxi.

Each month during Second Saturday, two OTMA members are featured as Hot Spots, and the Mockingbird Cafe and Strandz Salon are this month's picks.. Between 4 p.m. and 8 p.m., visitors can stop by the Hot Spots and other shops for refreshments and live music. Bring the kids! Pass a good time.

Serious Bread

If you blink while passing, you could miss the place, but you will be sorry if you do.

Nestled inside the shops on Main Street, at 131 Main Street, Suite D, behind Bay Books, Serious Bakery is a beloved Bay St. Louis attraction for locals and returning visitors alike. All are welcome. "We like our city and, most of all, we enjoy our customers," say Al and Vivian Jensen, proprietors.

Al Jensen is a retired oceanographer who traveled around the world during his career, sampling breads in every country he visited. Frustrated by the lack of artisan breads on the Gulf Coast, this staff-of-life connoisseur later decided to solve the problem by becoming a baker himself. Jensen pursued his new vocation "seriously."

After several workshops with a world-renowned baker in Vermont, the Jensens began selling their loaves in regional farmers' markets and, for four and a half years, provided the Mockingbird Café with sandwich bread. Finding that their offerings were snapped up by a public hungry for more, the couple opened Serious Bread and never looked back. They still sell their goods at Long Beach and Ocean Springs farmers' markets but have expanded into other enterprises of late.

In its latest phase of wholesale marketing, Serious Breads has teamed with the Kiln's Lazy Magnolia Brewery. The Brewery's menu creations—from chicken and vegetarian pizzas to cheese-dip bowls—rely on brat buns, bread bowls, crostini, Bavarian style soft pretzels, and flatbread provided by Serious Bread.

"Our world is about change, and so is our bakery," notes Al. Some things, however, like a reliance on King Arthur Flour and other wholesome ingredients, remain the same. Most especially, the bakery continues to soak grains for eight to ten hours to dissipate phytic acid and make minerals and nutrients more available. This time-honored way of baking bread results in healthy, easily-digestible, and delicious loaves.

Long a family affair, daughter Renee now serves as manager, buyer, and scheduler. In addition, the Jensens are "phasing in" new bakers who add new goodies. Jose Pablo Paz, known simply as Pablo, trained with an "old-time" French baker, and comes from a long line of bakers. In addition to the artisan bread he bakes daily assisted by apprentice Phillip DelValle, Pablo rustles up cinnamon rolls, shoe soles, turnovers, and seasonal King Cakes—the latter so spectacular they were featured on WGNO TV News with a Twist during Mardi Gras.

The Jensens understand the importance of staff. Rose Gooding, creator of the all-natural energy bars that are such a favorite of athletic types who swear the healthy snack sustains them during long runs and bike rides, has been part of the "work family" for five years. Sara Hahn assists Rose in the creation of scones, muffins, cookies, the occasional cake, and an assortment of luncheon items like tabbouleh, hummus, chicken salad, and other mouth-watering foods.

In the spirit of progress and change, Al adds, "We are giving serious thought to offering a mini flatbread and soup meal." The lucky Mudfest patrons that sampled the Jensen's 100-year-old family recipe, lentil- and goat-sausage soup, will approve.

Serious Bread is open Tuesday through Sunday, 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. On Saturday, April 14, the bakery will extend its hours to 8:00 p.m. If you stop by between 4 and 8, you will be treated to samples of the Coast Roast coffee so beloved by locals along with yet to be determined goodies, brought to you via the creative imaginations of Al and Vivian Jensen, and their bakers and baker's helpers. You will be glad you did. Seriously.

The Porch

The porch—wrap-around or screened in—we love it and can't seem to imagine living without. Some of us live for and on our porches, especially in the summer months. JoAnn Saucier created The Porch at the Bay, one of the Century Hall shops at 112 S. Second Street, Bay St. Louis, to reflect the "easy feel" of the front porch. "When people walk in," she says, "I want them to feel happy and good."

Shoppers will find an eclectic mix of farmhouse meets industrial. Lovely chalk-painted pieces, both large and small, fill The Porch. Saucier rehabs the "worst-looking stuff" she can find, meticulously restoring and repainting it from one of the many, many luscious chalk paints she keeps on hand in the shop. "In fact," she notes, "I would like to offer classes on chalk painting soon."

An array of handy kitchen items with a farmhouse look rounds out the merchandise. Think "uncommon goods for creative ideas," like grain-sack material that Saucier describes as "perfect for turning into table runners or covering a chair seat," adding, "the possibilities are endless!" Beautifully woven baskets adorn the walls and, below, them, fabulous planters that look like baskets but are made from cement. Saucier confides laughingly that she might just have a "basket addiction."

The Porch, which opened in 2017, is a relative newcomer to the Bay. Before moving to Bay St. Louis, Saucier ran The Porch on Magazine Street in New Orleans. With a background in art, Saucier first opened a booth on Magazine Street with a fellow student at New Orleans Academy of Fine Arts.

Over the years, Bay Life Gifts owner Janice Guido, friend, and neighbor (before Guido relocated to the Bay), encouraged Saucier to move to Bay St. Louis. With husband in tow, Saucier began visiting the Bay increasingly often and, as she tells it, "The more we came here, the less we wanted to go back." In 2014, the couple began making plans to move to the Bay in earnest.

In 2017, Saucier opened The Porch in Century Hall. A year later, Guido moved Bay Life Gifts from Main Street to Century Hall, and the two are neighbors once again. The Porch is downstairs on the left, and Bay Life Gifts is downstairs on the right. It's a double delight!

Saucier loves being in the Bay—"The people, the atmosphere, the slower pace . . . it all just makes me happy." And she has found her perch in Century Hall. Saucier says she loves bouncing ideas off "fun and energetic" shopkeepers like Guido and Susan Peterson, Bay Elements proprietor and manager of Century Hall. "Other shopkeepers always have great ideas," she says.

The future holds all kinds of possibilities. Saucier looks forward to adding a few more food products to flesh out the jellies and spices she already carries, and, perhaps most importantly, Saucier is looking forward to returning to her artwork and displaying it in the shop.

Saucier's most recent development takes the form of an online series entitled "Meet Me on the Porch Monday." The series of inspirational porches can be found only on Facebook at @ThePorchattheBay.

The Porch is open 10 to 5 Tuesday through Saturday, 11 to 3 on Sundays, and closed for business on Mondays.

Saucier invites you to grab your BFF and head on over to The Porch on Saturday, April 14, for drinks, snacks, and live music. While there, take advantage of many shops under one roof and ample on-site parking. Sit a spell. Feel happy and good.

Singer/Songwriter Jacob Bryant Brings Full Throttle Sound & Commanding Presence To 7th Annual Mud Bug Bash in Perkinston, – Saturday, April 14

Modern Day “Man In Black” Kicks A With Outlaw Country/Southern Rockers; Breaks Hearts With Ballads

SEA COAST ECHO

Nashville, TN (March 16, 2018) – Singer/songwriter Jacob Bryant will bring his full throttle Outlaw Country/Southern Rock sound and a commanding stage presence Saturday, April 14 to the 7th Annual Mud Bug Bash in Perkinston. The lanky Georgia native’s current single, “Pour Whiskey On My Grave,” is gaining power at radio while the companion video is ruling social media (4 MILLION-plus Facebook views with over 116,000 shares) – and now Bryant is hitting the road to promote his upcoming CD.

No stranger to the stage or the charts, Jacob has already opened shows for top-tier acts Craig Morgan, Eli Young Band, Kentucky Headhunters, David Allan Coe, Love & Theft and many more. With influences that range from Keith Whitley to Lynyrd Skynyrd, Bryant’s music ranges from the raunchy to the sublime. He commands the stage and engages his audience. This is Country music the Bryant way.

Show-goers can expect an incredible live performance; Bryant doesn’t do anything halfway. He’s come from a teen too shy to sing in his school chorus to headline status – and now Jacob rips it up with all the enthusiasm of a young Garth Brooks. His music consistently resonates with fans. It is raw, real and blatantly honest. This is a man comfortable in his own shoes ... or boots. Bryant isn’t pretending to be something he’s not, and fans immediately respond to his energy and passion.

With five EPs under his belt, Bryant’s 2016 EP, UP IN SMOKE, was his most successful yet. The disc debuted at # 7 on iTunes Country Chart and the video for “A Woman’s Touch” debuted at # 1 on CMT Music 12 Pack Countdown – and stayed in the Top 5 for 17 weeks. His music can be purchased at iTunes, Amazon, Google Play and Spotify.

ABOUT JACOB BRYANT

This motorcycle riding, bass fishing, animal lover grew up in the mountains of Jasper, Georgia and ventured into music via the indigenous stylings of his family’s Bluegrass band. He picked up the guitar at the age of eight and has since learned to play drums, bass and piano. At 27, Jacob Bryant has lived through more than most men twice his age. Hidden behind his blue eyes and charming smile lies a past of addiction, death, and divorce that have fueled his songwriting and pushed him to track some of his most popular biographical anthems including “Save My Soul,” “This Side of Sober,” “Too Late to Turn Around,” “Country Went to Hell,” and “Up In Flames.” Jacob still says “ma’am” and “thank you.” Humble, a little odd-ball ... but 110% on stage. His upcoming CD is set for summer release and includes several of the songs most-requested at his shows.

“Reduce, reuse and recreate” and it is reflected in the mosaics and assemblages she creates. Both artists share the belief that our waterways are in danger because of the throw-away society in which we live. Join Gallery 220 for Second Saturday, April 14, from 5-8pm for an opportunity to meet the artists as they share their work and discuss their passion for leaving clean surroundings to feature generations.

Mirror reflections of sky in water seem surreal in the moments captured through Armand Douroux’s photography. Slices of orange and magenta streak through the sunset over the Bay bridge, puffy billowing clouds grow over the swimsuit clad children playing in the water or the stillness of gray skies can all be seen in Douroux’s work. He offers prints of his photographs in various sizes as well as postcards that have quotes from Southern writers. His passion for nature is apparent in his work and the love of the Gulf Coast becomes alive in the captured magical moments seen through his eyes.

Joanna Slay discovered she has an innate ability to look at a discarded object and see a new beginning. Finding another use for what most consider trash is her desire and she gives these found objects a new home with a whimsical flair that combines color, texture and dimension. Slay has been displaying her work at Gallery 220 since 2012 and is known for her mosaic workshops taught at Clay Creations. Clean water is the focus of this show and plastic bottle caps, picked up along the beach, will be some of the tesserae used in her new designs.

Second Saturdays at Gallery 220 Main are filled with visitors and locals who join in the creative camaraderie found in this cooperative, home to over 25 local artists. Live music, delicious food and good company are guaranteed. Find us at 220 Main St., Bay St. Louis, MS, just two blocks north of the beach. Call 228-466-6347 for additional information.

The University of Southern Mississippi's College of Business honored alumnus Chuck Scianna as the 2018 Entrepreneur of the Year during a special luncheon held Friday, April 6 at the Trent Lott National Center on the University's Hattiesburg campus.

Scianna, a 1975 graduate, is the owner, founder, and President of Sim-Tex, a leading firm in the oil country tubular goods (OCTG) industry. He completed an undergraduate degree in finance from USM, an MBA from University of Houston, and a distinguished record of service in the U.S. Marine Corps.

"Chuck Scianna is an exemplar for the life of an entrepreneur. He does not seem to rest or stop learning," said Dr. Faye Gilbert, Dean of the USM College of Business. "His drive to improve the industry, his community, and his approaches to business seem to be tireless pursuits that keep him engaged in the industry and in making a difference in the lives of others."

Prior to the luncheon, Scianna took the opportunity to meet with College of Business students enrolled in a creative marketing class.

"I'm deeply honored, but for me the great thing is the opportunity to get back on campus and see that my investment has really paid off," he said. "The product we put out – our students, who I believe should instead be referred to as young professionals – is exceptional, and Dean Gilbert is doing a fantastic job."

Sim-Tex, LP distributes pipes to the oil and gas industry and offers its services in hydrostatic testing and threading through use of an international supply chain. In simple terms, Sim-Tex provides the pipe that is used to produce oil and gas out of the well. Its products flow through distributors and retail OCTG pipe distribution companies.

The Entrepreneur of the Year award is sponsored by an endowment established by the late Joseph Boardman for the College of Business.
